As medical technology advances, parts and software availability, and – upgrade capability diminish. Del Medical has undertaken a review of all the products we support and have determined we no longer adequately provide parts and technical support on several lines of generators & other product types that have not been manufactured in over 10 years. As a result we will no longer be able to guarantee parts or support for the generators and other products on the attached list effective June 1, 2013

PACS
Solutions

Del Medical will continue to supply parts and software remaining in our inventory or which are currently manufactured by one of our component suppliers. Technical service support will be limited to parts identification and providing schematics and diagrams for these generators and products.
